Content

The BA (Hons) Graphic Design degree has grown in ambition year on year, developing a highly regarded and carefully considered programme which meets current industry demands and nurtures thoughtful graduates who understand the value of ideas, ethics, concept development and design thinking.

This course provides the opportunity to study at a partner University overseas, or take a work placement in industry during your third year.

The programme is also a D&AD Education Network member, and has won 'best in show' at the D&AD Graduate Showcase ‘New Blood’ in London for several years, as well as over 30 other individual student awards since 2011.

This four-year degree is supported by industry in Scotland and London, providing placements and projects for students. StudioLR, an award-winning Edinburgh studio has a strong relationship with the programme, providing input to projects and awarding a Graduate Prize every year.
