Content

The Interior Architecture & Design programme offers a creative blend of design skills to equip you for industry. You'll apply conceptual methods to imaginatively adapt or re-use interior environments. Key areas that you will study include sustainability, human-centred design, hand and digital making skills, materials, drawing, furniture and detailing, technology and digital communication.

You'll learn about innovative new technology that can help you bring your interior design ideas to life. You'll work on real projects for industry. Students have worked with brands such as Adidas, Herman Miller and Accor Hotel Group.

You'll have the opportunity to work with many external partners, organisations, and businesses. You'll be encouraged to challenge yourself, make connections, and develop skills that will be useful after graduation, while also building your identity as a designer.
