

Person-Centred Practice (Public Health and Wellbeing)

Queen Margaret University

Content

The routes in the Person-Centred Practice Framework seek to influence and enable the transformative processes of personal and professional development through engagement, facilitation and evaluation of person-centred teaching and learning approaches. It is designed to meet the professional needs of practitioners from all disciplines working in a variety of different health and social care settings.

The Framework is innovative and interactive, emphasising application of theory to your practice context. It will enable you to critically engage with, evaluate and synthesise the evidence and research to promote the development and enhancement of person-centred culture and practice. This develops a pro-active, transformative and reflective approach to meeting the public health and social needs of individuals, families, groups and populations.

You can personalise your learning to your own situation eg mental health, social care, infection control, acute care and community health. International students are particularly welcome as they offer a varied and different perspective to the context in which the learning occurs.

You can exit with PgDip or PgCert Person-Centred Practice (Public Health and Wellbeing).

Start Date

September, January

Qualification

Postgraduate Master's

Study Method

Full time

Award Title

MSc

Course Length

1 year

Faculty

School of Health Sciences

Department

Health Professions

Entry Requirements

You will normally be graduates with evidence of relevant recent academic study. Interview

You will require a satisfactory criminal record check from Disclosure Scotland to show that you are suitable for this type of course. Contact Disclosure Scotland for details on the type you would need.

SCQF Level

11

Address

Queen Margaret University Drive
Musselburgh
East Lothian
EH21 6UU

Website

www.qmu.ac.uk