

Music (Historically Informed Performance Practice) (in conjunction with Glasgow University)

Royal Conservatoire of Scotland

Venues

Renfrew Street Campus

Content

The MMus in Historically Informed Performance Practice is offered by the University of Glasgow in conjunction with the Royal Conservatoire of Scotland. It will provide you with opportunities to develop insight and experience in historical performance practice of music, through a combination of vocal or instrumental study, performance-related academic research and an element of apprenticeship with professional ensembles.

The programme draws upon the staff expertise and facilities of both institutions, offering a unique opportunity to study alongside world-class performer-scholars within both the University and the Conservatoire environment.

Further details of this programme, including how to apply, are available on the Glasgow University website.
