Content

This Graphic Design course prepares you for a career in the exciting and constantly developing area of graphic design. The course develops your creative ability and technical graphics skills, mainly through practical projects in the studio.

The course also encourages you to take responsibility for your own development. You'll build on your own creative concepts through research and development in the sketchbook, before producing finished work digitally.

The emphasis of the course is on the layout of type and image, for both print and screen and the development of creative concepts.

You'll study:

Design Production; Motion Graphics; Web Design; Typography Project; Preparing a Professional Portfolio and CV; Graphic Design Projects; Client-Initiated Design Project.
