

Business Management (Accounting)

Open University in Scotland

Content

What roles do accountants play in organisations? What kinds of information do they work with and how does their work and the information they produce influence the daily decisions and activities of an organisation? In this specialist route available in the BA (Honours) Business Management (Q91) degree, you will develop an interdisciplinary perspective on the management of business organisations and build specialised knowledge and skills in financial and management accounting. You will be equipped with the necessary skills to use and apply accounting techniques and concepts in the workplace.
