Content

Year 1

Year 1 provides a fundamental understanding of the purposes and sources of Law and the main elements of Public and Private Law in Scotland. You will study eight modules if studying full-time and four modules if studying accelerated part time or part time.

Year 2

This year develops concepts introduced in Year 1 and provides specialised knowledge of other more complex modules. You will study eight modules if studying full-time, six modules if accelerated part-time and four modules if part time. Full time students will complete the course in Year 2.

Year 3

If you are on the accelerated part-time and part-time routes you will continue to study particular modules within the 16 mandatory modules contained within the course. Accelerated part-time students will study six modules this year and if on the part-time route you will study four modules. Accelerated part-time students will complete the course in Year 3.

Year 4

If you are a part-time student in your final year you will complete the last four of the 16 mandatory modules to finish the course.
