Content

So you're a professional athlete or member of support staff. All that matters is being the best, and you will sacrifice everything to get there. Good. Now, while you are busy being your best, come and get your degree and stay at the top for the rest of your career. The BA Business and Enterprise in Sport was designed specifically for you.

The modules are student-centred and attend to specific skills and competencies that will most benefit you as an individual. Working through a guided process, in collaboration with the module leaders, you will identify experiential learning opportunities that are appropriate for your studies.
