Content

The HNC Photography is designed with flexibility at its heart, to meet the needs of a vibrant photographic employment market, either in self-employment, or working for a business.

The broad ranging units cover different photographic styles; from studio and environmental portraiture, studio still-life, social photography, stock, corporate and library photography, to shooting images in the environment.

You will gain a strong foundation in a range of photographic disciplines, both studio- or location-based, that will make you technically competent, while developing your style and creative flair alongside ICT and research skills.
