

Human Geography: Spaces, Policies, Ecologies

University of Glasgow

Venues

Gilmorehill Campus

Content

This Masters in Human Geography: Spaces, Politics and Ecologies considers how geography has been used to actively engage with the world beyond the academy, focusing on social justice and social change, environment and development, and cultural and historical geographies.

Start Date

September

Qualification

Postgraduate Master's

Study Method

Part time (day)

Award Title

MRes

Course Length

24 months

Faculty

College of Science and Engineering

Department

Geographical and Earth Sciences

Entry Requirements

A 2:1 Honours degree or equivalent in a relevant subject.

SCQF Level

11

Address

Glasgow
G12 8QQ

Website

www.gla.ac.uk