Content

The MSc in Gerontology with Dementia Care has been created in response to this demographic evolution and the difficulties faced by those living with dementia, their carers and their families.

This programme caters for a range of professionals with relevant experience and interest in working with older people living with dementia. Successful completion of this programme will present opportunities to access employment as advanced practitioners, researchers, lecturers and practice development professionals. It is intended for an internationally diverse audience of health, allied health, and social care professionals particularly those who have experience in caring for older people living with dementia.

You can exit after Stage 1 with PgCert Gerontology with Dementia Care
