Content

Develop exciting practical archaeological skills, while focussing upon the incredibly rich archaeology of the Scottish Highlands and Islands, and the wider North Atlantic. This degree is closely linked to the distinctive cultural heritage of our region, but also places all of that within a much broader global context. You will receive research-lead teaching from lecturers engaged in world-class research on projects from the Scottish Islands, to Nepal or Easter Island.

This degree will provide you with a detailed understanding of the practice of archaeology within Britain, Europe and the Atlantic Region and practical skills in archaeology through hands on experience.
