Content

This course will introduce you to the basic skills and knowledge required to get you started in Studio Photography. You'll be introduced to basic studio techniques and lighting for product, still life and portrait photography.

You'll discover what studio equipment to use and how to control studio lighting to achieve the desired effect. You'll then apply these skills in the planning and production of your own product, still life and/or portrait photoshoots.

The course will also include post-production using Adobe Camera Raw and Photoshop as an integral part of the digital workflow.
