Content

The MA Children and Young People's Participation and Leadership is designed for any professional who works with children, young people and their families, with a special interest in facilitating their rights and active participation.

This unique course is designed in partnership with the Scottish Government, the Scottish Youth Parliament, Children's Parliament Scotland, and relevant children's rights organisations. With a strong focus on the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), there is an opportunity to contextualise how children's rights, active participation and child-led decisions are integrated within your professional role, and their place as a valued and meaningful part of this process.

You can exit after part 1 with a PgCert Children and Young People

You can exit after part 2 with a PgDip Children and Young People's Participation and Leadership.
