Content

The HNC in Sports Coaching and Developing Football provides the knowledge and skills necessary to work as a professional within the sector. The topics covered range from human anatomy, physiology and biomechanics to sports coaching, sports development and professional practice — including research skills.

This qualification will provide you with structured opportunities to experience the culture required for successful employment in the football industry. It will allow you to develop confidence and interpersonal and leadership skills while enhancing your knowledge and expertise in football coaching.

The course includes a stand-alone, industry-recognised Professional Development Award in Sports Coaching at SCQF level 7. This one-year course can also form the first year of our 2-year HND Sports Coaching and Development course. When applying for this course, on successful completion of the application and interview, you will be offered the opportunity to enrol for the two-year HND option.
