Content

The Bachelor of Nursing (BN) with Honours programme reflects global, UK and Scottish perspectives of healthcare. This highly regarded programme allows you to work closely with academic staff who are engaged in international nursing leadership, research and practice.

The programme combines theoretical and clinical skills learning within the University with practice learning experiences. The equal weighting of theory and practice is a defining feature of this degree structure and is required by the Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC).

Throughout the programme, you will engage in practice learning and experience placement time in a range of community and inpatient settings.

Within the hospital setting, you will engage with varied learning environments. This can include: admission to hospital; emergency care; critical care; rehabilitation; and surgical and medical wards or diagnostic services.
