Content

This course lets you explore a range of art and design disciplines while developing your skills in animation, 3D modelling, digital video, digital sound, and computer-based art. You will complete practical projects that challenge you to create your own ideas and develop your creative approach.

The course prepares you for further study at art school or university, emphasising research, experimentation, and the development of a personal artistic process rather than copying existing styles. Through hands-on practice and critical thinking, you gain the knowledge and skills to take the next step in your creative career.
