Content

Year one of the HND Sports Therapy is a practical course with a strong theoretical component. Providing you with an industry-recognised qualification, this year of the course develops the knowledge and skills required to work as a Soft Tissue Therapist.

This course is ideal if you want to work with sportspeople with soft-tissue concerns.

Year 2 will improve the skills, competencies and techniques you learned in your first year (HNC Soft Tissue Therapy), and build on the practical opportunities previously gained to enhance your industry experience. This will include running Edinburgh College-based sports clinics and having more responsibility at previously attended events.
