

Costume for Stage and Screen

Glasgow Kelvin College

Venues

Springburn Campus

Content

You'll study both men's and women's tailoring, create period foundation garments such as corsets, and learn decorative embellishment techniques using hand and machine sewing. Working on a range of internal design briefs and simulated production projects, you'll gain invaluable hands-on experience designing and producing costumes for performance contexts — building a professional portfolio that reflects your creativity and technical precision.

By graduation, you'll have a strong mix of creative flair, technical accuracy and historical understanding — ready to enter costume departments across film, TV and theatre, or to progress to university-level study.

What you will learn:

Costume Design and History of Costume; Pattern Construction; Ladies Period Foundation Garments; Gents Costume Cutting and Construction; Costume Fitting Skills; Designing and Creating Costume Embellishment; Corsetry.
