Content

The CECA Scotland Academy provides a training to employment programme developing a future pipeline of talent to the Civil Engineering Industry in Scotland. This programme is being run as a national pilot and is supported by Civil Engineering Contractors Association and their industry members.

Upon successfully finishing the programme, participants will be awarded a National Progression Award (NPA) qualification in civil engineering. Furthermore, they will have the opportunity to participate in an employer event featuring interviews, paving a direct pathway into the industry as a certified civil engineering operative.
