Content

This course is for young people who have recently left school and other learners who may have been out of education recently. It's specifically for students who might find the pace and timetabling of other college courses very difficult to maintain without additional support.

It offers students a high level of support and nurturing, while creating independence. This course meets the needs of applicants who have a learning disability and/or are on the Autistic Spectrum.

Students come to college 3 days a week and will achieve a qualification at SCQF Level 2.
