Milton Road Campus

Content

This course is designed to develop your creative and technical skills across Film, High-End TV and Factual. With Film and TV production rapidly growing across all areas of the UK, now is the time to add an extra dimension to your film-making and develop the edge you need to thrive. You will gain real experience working in different roles and use the time at college to develop a portfolio/showreel/CV to take you from college into the industry.

This programme is validated by Kingston School of Art in London, it allows students who have an HND in a relevant Media Production course to gain a BA (Hons) degree in one year, rather than through a 2-year top up from an HND as typically offered by universities in Scotland.

What you will learn:

Research and analysis: examining film style; Short film production; and, Major project: final film.
