Content

Year 1
Chinese is taught from beginner's level, and previous knowledge of the language is not required, although an aptitude for language learning is helpful. You will develop your communicative skills in speaking, listening, reading and writing, while gaining an understanding of Chinese grammar and the Chinese writing system.

This is an intensive language course designed to help you communicate confidently in Chinese. If you have some previous knowledge of Chinese, you may need to take a level test to help us place you in the most appropriate course.

Year 2
You will build on your knowledge of Chinese and continue to develop confidence in spoken and written communication. You will further develop your reading and listening skills while consolidating your understanding of Chinese grammar and language use. You will also study aspects of Chinese culture and society.

You will also study other subjects in years 1 and 2: see Flexible degrees.

Years 3 (year abroad)
If you progress to Honours you will spend Year 3 abroad, usually studying at a partner university in China. This provides an opportunity to immerse yourself in the language and culture while further developing your Chinese language skills. The University has a number of exchange programmes and will provide support and advice to help you arrange your placement.

Years 4 and 5
Chinese is available as a Joint Honours programme, so you will study another subject alongside it in Years 4 and 5. We place a strong emphasis on achieving a high degree of competence in the language. Chinese language study remains central to the programme as you continue to develop advanced skills in spoken and written Chinese.

You will also study aspects of Chinese culture, history and society in greater depth, further developing your understanding of China and the Chinese-speaking world.
