Computing and IT Practice (Top-Up)

Open University in Scotland

Content

If you already have a foundation degree or equivalent qualification, this top-up gives you the chance to achieve a full honours degree in just two years. You'll explore the challenges of specifying, designing, deploying and managing computing and IT systems, while tailoring your module choices to fit your career ambitions. The degree concludes with a substantial project linked to your chosen modules, providing you with the opportunity to demonstrate your skills and specialism. It's a flexible and practical route to strengthen your expertise and advance your career in the information technology field.

The course is accredited by BCS, The Chartered Institute for IT.
