Business Management

Glasgow Caledonian University

Content

Business management at Glasgow Caledonian University is flexible. You will learn on a theoretical and practical level, in the way that suits you best. You will become proficient in financial management, marketing, operations and resource management, from both UK and international perspectives.

You will master key business functions such as strategy, leadership, managing people and operations, entrepreneurship, innovation and technology management. The teaching you receive is informed by the latest research methods. You can include a language in your degree and select the modules and placements that match your individual aspirations. The communication, teamwork, problem-solving and leadership skills are what set our graduates apart from others in their chosen field.
