Content

NQ Social Care (Level 6) is aimed at providing you with the skills and experience required to pursue a career in social care as a support worker or project worker, or to progress to further study on HNC Social Services.

This course covers many aspects of the caring role with a range of service users. You will cover a range of NQ Care units at Level 6, as well as undertake a placement element to the course with Level 2 SVQ units.

The social care sector makes up roughly 1 in 13 jobs in Scotland and has been steadily growing since 2008 (Source: Scottish Social Services Council). Studying social care opens up a wealth of career opportunities - with each one making a positive difference to peoples lives.

During the course you will study subjects such as the core units of:

Health and safety of yourself and individuals; Developing your own knowledge and practice;
Supporting effective communication; British Sign Language; Stress and stress management; Health, safety and protection issues in care setting; Values and principles; Counselling: an introduction and theory for practice;
Substance use and misuse: an introduction; Human development and behaviour;
Child protection; Social influences; Skills for work and college; Communication in care relationships; HIV, Hepatitis B & Hepatitis C infections; Caring for people with dementia.
